Bushels Of Sweet Potatoes From One Very Small Plant

Many women like the idea of a sweet potato vine for a pot plant to enhance the beauty of their kitchen. They grow easily and lend attractiveness to their surroundings.

A few months ago Mrs. Grady Boynton was talking to Mrs. Bob Durrance in Pahokee about the beauty of a healthy sweet potato plant growing in the Durrance home. Remarking that she planned to start one herself, Mrs. Boynton was told by Mrs. Durrance to take along the one she had growing there.

The plant was taken to the Boynton home in Canal Point where it served its purpose for many, many weeks. Finally, it began to shed its leaves and as is the usual case it was not as pretty as in its early days. So, Mrs. Boynton discarded it.

There is where this story really starts.

Along came Mr. Boynton and found the potato plant on the trash pile. Being of a curious nature, more or less, Grady took the wilted and yellowing plant into his garden and planted it. Merely to see if it would grow. And grow it did! That was several months ago. Sometime last summer, Grady pointed out to this reporter.

"Yesterday we had the pleasure of helping Grady dig some potatoes from the single vine he had picked up off the trash pile. The potatoes weighed in the neighborhood of six or seven pounds—that is 9 of them did and then there were many smaller ones weighing around two or three pounds—for a total of 35 big ones. Then there were a lot of small ones weighing half pound up to a pound.

"The potatoes were a little rough but otherwise excellent for the table. When this reporter was on the potato digging scene Grady had already given away many of the delectable spuds to his neighbors. However, what he had left over filled two bushel baskets. Not a bad harvest from one hill of potatoes.

Mrs. Rader Killed In Auto Accident

Mrs. Pauline Rosen Rader, 49, of 911 Hollywood Pl., West Palm Beach, was killed instantly in a traffic accident about 6:30 p. m. Wednesday on SR 80, approximately three miles west of 20-Mile Bend, according to Florida Highway Patrolman E. D. Dugger.

Her husband, Leo J. Rader, 64, was reported in Belle Glade Memorial Hospital in critical condition with internal injuries.

Deputy Sheriff Emory Pickren, who investigated the accident, said Mr. Rader was driving east on SR 80 when he rammed into the rear of a one-and-a-half ton concrete mixer truck parked on the right side of the road awaiting return of a similar truck across a nearby bridge. The truck's driver, Ed Emerson, 28, Canal Point, was quoted as saying that at the time of the accident he was down the road trying to flag down traffic with his flashlight.

The truck was knocked 45 feet of the south side of the road and overturned. Pickren said both vehicles were listed as total losses.

Investigating, according to "Patrolman Dugger, were Patrolman J. P. Bertrand, Belle Glade, Constable Ray Whitlock, Belle Glade, and Deputy Pickren. No charges had been filed last night.

Mr. Rader recently figured in a long drawn out litigation involving the estate of a former wife, Deputy Pickren said, in which a perjury conviction was finally reversed by the Florida Supreme Court.

Mrs. Rader's body was taken to Berry's Funeral Home, Pahokee—Palm Beach Post.

Mr. Dobrow pointed out the many fine things done by the club during the year just closed. He is chairman of the welfare fund committee.

It was reported monies from the welfare fund, which is raised by club members, spent in ministering to needy families and their underprivileged children during the past year totaled $897.93, with 30 welfare cases receiving aid.

During the past year the welfare fund was used to give aid to local school cafeterias by supplying them with fruits and vegetables and providing free lunches, to underprivileged children, furnishing free dental service to underprivileged children, paying for 15 tons of lectomies, furnishing transportation to the free clinics in West Palm Beach, providing groceries for destitute families and aiding destitute victims of auto accidents.

Monies from the welfare fund were also used to purchase a portable incubator for use in caring for premature babies born outside the local hospital.

In addition to the $897.93 spent on welfare cases, the club is purchasing a refrigerating unit for the walk-in cooler at the Canal Point School lunchroom at a cost of $300. The club installed a walk-in refrigerator at the Pahokee school cafeteria last year and it proved a valuable aid in reducing food costs.

The Rotary Welfare Fund was established by the club a few years ago when the Community Chest was dissolved and has been the top welfare agency in this area ever since.

Elmer Jones, secretary-treasurer of the committee, rendered an outstanding and detailed report of all expenditures of the group during the year.

To have that many thousand "chicks" for you is something to boast about. From the trans-Atlantic cables comes words that Rhonda Fleming plans to extend her current European tour. She plans to trek to the swank winter resort of St. Moritz before returning to the film capital. Who knows Rhonda may pick up a Nobel prize around there. John Wayne and his actress-wife will remain in Mexico until January 7th, when the rugged actor is slated to begin another picture. The popular couple is currently vacationing in the seaside town of Acapulco. Wanda Hendrix is slated to spend New Years in merrie England. She is in London where she is to star in a forthcoming production. Quite jolly, ya' know. Liza Minnelli, Judy Garland's daughter, is in New York spending the Holidays with her talented mother. Political Pot In State Starts Boil

TALLAHASSEE—With the holidays over, the spotlight swings to politics in the Capitol. City and speculation is rife as to who will run and for what office.

Rumors have been flying thick and fast. Political observers are hanging close on the coattails of suspected aspirants. With Dan McCarty, Alto Adams and Erskine Odham definitely in the race for Governor and already slugging it out on the stump, while others are flirting with the idea of jumping in to muddy up the political waters, it appears that the old pot will be boiling soon.

Two questions that must be answered soon are—What will Claude Pepper do? and What will Alfred McKethan do? It is generally believed that Pepper will soon stop twiddling his toes on the edge of the pool and taking a deep breath will dive head first into the U. S. Senate race as an opponent of Spessard Holland.

McKethan is expected to announce any day that he intends to run for Governor. There are some who believe that Pepper, at the last minute, may decide to run for Governor rather than tackle Holland for the Senate post.

All cabinet members must run for reelection this year and so far no opposition to any of these candidates has appeared on the horizon.

Only one member of the Florida State Railroad and Public Utilities Commission is up for reelection this year, Richard A. Mack. While no one has actually announced against him, those in the know state that he will have stiff competition.

The Marine Laboratory of the University of Miami is the official water research agency of the Florida State Board of Conservation.

To the University of Miami falls the honor of being the first college in the country to organize a "Dwight D. Eisenhower for President" movement.

Citrus Week Will Be Designated By Governor Warren

WINTER HAVEN — Governor Fuller Warren has informed officials of the Florida Citrus Exposition he will designate the exposition period of February 18-23 as "Florida Citrus Week."

The Governor visited Winter Haven last week to inaugurate a national radio program and conferred with John A. Snively, Jr., exposition president, and Phil E. Lucey, general manager, giving his approval of plans for the all-industry show.

The Florida Citrus Museum, being established in the Florida Citrus Building adjacent the exposition grounds, will open January 15. The Tom Moore "Ladies Fair" radio show, which opened here recently for a 13-week engagement, will be a main entertainment feature of the exposition.

Adams Seeks Change In Governor's Power

TAMPA—Alto Adams says if elected Governor he would ask the Legislature to reshuffle the Governor's powers to put the bulk of the State's Administrative control under the State Cabinet. He explained this would remove the balance of administrative power from the Governor and put it under Cabinet members "who must look the electorate in the eye every four years."

This, Adams said in a speech before the Tampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, would give constitutional government back to the people.

After his speech he answered questions from the audience. One of the first put to him concerned his connection with the Adams Cattle Company in which J. Bralley Odham, one of his opponents, said he owned a big share. He explained that he had assisted in getting the company started, helped find land, aided in hiring a foreman, permitted the use of his name in the company, but he never had any monetary interest in the concern.

Research Review Made By Ag. Dept.

CLEWISTON — Making its annual review of current research on sugarcane and beets, the Sugar Advisory Committee of the U. S. Department of Agriculture submitted nine major recommendations for future work on these crops. Utilization of blackstrap molasses for cattle feed when used with sugarcane as a carrier, and possibilities of using sugarbeet in bagasse for making paper, received considerable study.

A recommendation to accelerate the work investigating possibilities of making paper pulp from sugarcane bagasse was one of the top priority proposals of the Committee. Work to improve the marketability of blackstrap molasses was another. In the field of marketing, the Committee urged studies on the commercial value of mechanically-harvested cane and the marketing of sugarcane bagasse and blackstrap molasses.

The Committee, meeting at Clewiston, visited Department laboratories and field plots at Canal Point and Belle Glade, and observed research work and facilities of the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station at Belle Glade and of the United States Sugar Corporation at Clewiston.

Florida Economy On Solid, Proved Assets

TALLAHASSEE—Governor Fuller Warren credits the Florida Industrial Development Council with a prominent part in the states recent rapid industrial expansion. "A record unprecedented in Florida," he said.

Industrial construction in 1951 will reach $300 million. One new plant will produce 50 million pounds of nylon annually, another 1,400,000 barrels of cement, others will manufacture aircraft parts, electronic equipment, sulphuric acid, furniture, work clothes.

Warren and Council Chairman McGregor Smith, president of Florida Power & Light, took part in the recent dedication of Hudson Pulp & Paper Corporation's new $10 million addition, which doubles the 4-year-old plant's capacity.

Smith has been widely quoted on the statement "Florida has long since outgrown the papier-mache, high-pressure promotion era of a generation ago. Our economy is based on solid, proved assets."

May Not Be Enough Oranges This Year

LAKELAND — Florida, with a record-breaking supply of over seventy-two million boxes, may not have enough oranges to go around, a citrus official said recently.

Single strength canners will, no doubt, and on the shortest end of the supply, A. V. Saurman, general manager of Florida Citrus Mutual, has predicted. On the basis of the records of last season, he said, there is a chance that the orange juice pack will be the lightest one in several years.

At the present rate of utilization, approximately 14 million boxes of oranges will have been shipped by Jan. 1, 1952. This will leave 58 million boxes of the 72-75,000 boxes available after the first of the year. He predicts 17 million boxes going to the fresh fruit market, 3 million for home use and export, 30 million to concentrators for frozen juice, 2,500,000 to concentrators for hot pack juice, leaving a total of 5,500,000 boxes for single-strength canners. Single strength canners used a total of 15,800,000 boxes for the 1950-51 season.

Ruling Is Made On Assistance Law

TALLAHASSEE—Possession of a hog, cow, half-acre of land, and a flock of 10 domestic fowl will not keep a person from receiving his full share of public assistance in Florida.

Sherwood Smith, State welfare director, recently received a telegram from the Atlanta regional office of the Social Security Administration reporting that a State law providing for this was approved, based on the facts which had been presented.

The Legislature last spring passed a law specifically exempting those items when considering the income or resources of a person in need of public assistance. Since then, the State Department of Public Welfare has petitioned the Social Security Administration to approve the law on the basis that it costs as much to produce or blind persons or dependent child-maintain these items by aged and ren families as the produce, is worth. Since July 1, Florida has been without an approved plan, and for 10 days in October Federal funds were held up pending further negotiations relative to the new law.

9-Year-Old Court Case Settled In Tampa

TAMPA—A nine-year-old Federal court case brought by Bruce's Juices, Inc., a Tampa firm, in 1942 against American Can Co., was closed recently when a mandate from the U. S. Court of Appeals awarded Bruce's Juices $180,000 damages.

Opening the litigation was a suit brought in Circuit Court in 1942 by American Can Company against Bruce's Juices for the payment of promissory notes. The juice company countered with a suit in Federal Court charging that the notes were illegal because of alleged violation by American Can Company of the anti-trust and Robinson-Patman price discrimination laws.

Soon after the suits were brought, the Florida Supreme Court affirmed the decision in favor of American Can Company. After the U. S. Supreme Court handed down the same decision, the promissory notes were paid off by Bruce's Juices.

Meanwhile, in Federal Court in 1949, a judgement was entered in favor of Bruce's Juices concerning the alleged violation of the anti-trust laws. A decision handed down awarded the $180,000 damages to juice firm.

Damages originally cited by Adams Bruce, president of the firm, had not been allowed to expand his business because of discrimination in prices of the sale of cans to his company which was allowed one per cent discount for one year while other out-of-state firms were allowing five per cent discount.

International publicity is being given the Florida Keys through the Greyhound Lines calendar for 1952. One of the four pictures on the large wall calendar is of the Keys Overseas Highway.

Blue Devils Start Basket Ball Sked

The Pahokee High School Blue Devil cagers will launch their 1952 basketball season this Friday night when they will be hosts to the Fort Pierce Eagles in the local gym.

The varsity game will be preceded by a preliminary B-team game, starting at 7 o'clock.

Coach Bill Howard has three returning lettermen: Carney Wilder, Buddy Hewell and Mac Lynn, in this year's squad. The preseason practice of the Blue Devils has been hampered by repairs that have been underway in the gym and they are not expected to start the season in top form.

Practice was resumed Monday following 10 days of idleness during the Christmas vacation and Coach Howard is not pleased with the progress his squad is making. He says the Blue Devils will have to show much better form than they have in drills this week if they expect to hold the Eagles on even terms.

Tampa Bay Will Get SRD New Bridge

TAMPA—Hillsborough County Commissioners last week called on the State Improvement Commission and the State Road Board to take the first step toward plans for a new $5,200,000 two-lane bridge to parallel Gandy Bridge. The bridge is proposed as a joint project by Hillsborough and Pinellas Counties to be paid for from surplus state gasoline tax revenue which will begin accruing to them in 1956.

Alfred McKethan, state road board chairman, said that construction of the bridge could be started by mid-1952 and completed within two years. The bridge project was first proposed more than a year ago to ease the "bumper-to-bumper" traffic and travel hazards over Gandy Bridge, the main link between St. Petersburg and Tampa metropolitan areas across Old Tampa Bay. Plans are to erect the new bridge alongside, but separated from, the existing bridge, and convert both to two lanes each of one-way traffic.
